

Configure your locale preference

The screenshot shows the "Languages" settings in Google Chrome. The main panel displays a message about network proxy settings being managed by an extension, with a "Change proxy settings..." link. Below this is a "Languages" section with a sub-section titled "Change how Chrome handles and displays languages". A "Languages" sub-dialog is open, listing "French", "English (United States)", and "English". The "French" entry is highlighted. At the bottom of the sub-dialog are "Add" and "Done" buttons. The background of the main Chrome window shows the "Settings" tab selected, with sections for "History", "Extensions", "Settings", "Help", "Downloads", "HTTPS/SSL", "Google Cloud Print", "System", and "Reset browser settings".

Google

